

Your Instructor

Dr. Magdalena Battles has a PhD in Psychology, a Master's Degree in Professional Counseling, and a Bachelor of Science Degree in Child Psychology. Her post graduate studies were completed at Harvard. Her specialties include parenting, child development, family relationships, domestic violence, and sexual assault. She shares her real life experiences and professional insights on her website Living Joy Daily and on LifeHack.org, where she was named one of their top 10 writers. She and her husband raise their three young children in Texas. Dr. Battles has two books on child development. One of them, The Importance of Play, was released in 2019. She may seem all business, but in her spare time she enjoys camping with her family, reading non-fiction and raising Silkie chickens. She is also very active in her community and church (Gateway Church) in Southlake, Texas.

Training Topics (We've included them all so you don't need to choose!)

Music and Movement (1 Hour)

Here you'll learn the benefits of using music and movement in your classroom. We'll discuss specific tools to facilitate fun and educational music sessions like shaker eggs, ribbons, scarves and another secret tool you'll have to come to see. You'll discover many songs, movements, exercises and activities for use with these tools and create a lesson plan based on them. Finally, learn how to modify these methods for use with babies, toddlers, and children with special needs.

Creating Positive Relationships With Children's Parents (1 Hour)

Dealing with parents can be difficult sometimes. Especially if they are difficult themselves. So this training is designed to teach you how best to deal with many popular personality types including My Child can do No Wrong, Everything is Your Job, and No, This is How It's Done. You'll examine cooperative partnerships between parents and teachers with tips on upgrading relationships from just ok to absolutely fabulous.

The Importance of Play (2 Hours)

Basically it's pretty important. During this training you'll learn why play is essential to a child's development, additional benefits children experience during play, the six stages of play from Parten's theory, and Marten's 16 types of play. With this information you'll be equipped to recognize and implement appropriate play activities calibrated for your children's age group. You'll also be prepared to teach parents the importance of their children's play and the important place it holds in their environment. The training will culminate in 20 inexpensive and easy ways to implement play activities. Oh, and it'll be hands-on. (Shhh! Don't tell anyone you'll be playing at the training conference!)

Toddler Tantrums (1 Hour)

This training will teach you ten practical tips for handling toddler tantrums. You'll learn the best ways to pass this information along to parents so they can better handle tantrums at home, and you'll also learn how to distinguish tantrums from meltdowns caused by sensory issues, autism, or other factors. Your instructor will not be performing a tantrum demonstration.
